Destitute Children of Kentucky.

This next week, the Ky. Children's Home Society will have a drive through the public schools of the whole state, to get and secure funds to build a new home for the destitute children of the state.

This drive has the strong endorsement of Supt. V. O. Gilbert, Dr. H. H. Cheary of the Western Normal school, and in fact every one of the leading educators of the state are for this movement.

Prof. R. P. Green, of the Kentucky Educational Association endorses this drive, and in all the counties the school children, and citizens are going to help the poor children.

We have been called on to help the French, Belgian, Armenian, Red Cross and all other drives that have been held, but this drive is a STRICTLY Kentucky affair, and with this in view, the Governor has issued a proclamation asking all the people to help in this noble enterprise.

This Society takes any children that are in need, regardless of any religion, or other considerations.

The school children all thru the state are taking a good deal of interest in this drive, as they in many instances know of the work the Society is doing.

County Supt. Noah Loy is anxious that the schools in Adair County to help all they can.

Adair County has sent a good many children to the Kentucky Children's Home, and has saved the county money, but above all, it has saved the children, and there is no way to estimate this service in dollars and cents.

There will be a Tag Day in Columbia, the last of the week, Nov 1st, and the school children will ask every body to give something to help build a home for these poor children.

Prof. Prather, Miss Jennie Garnett, Mr. John Flowers, County Judge Sinclair and others are going to help boost the children in their drive.

SECURES A NEW LEASE ON LIFE THROUGH TRIAL.

"I'm 67 But I Feel Young and Strong, Since Using Trutona," Stephens Says.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 28.—"I'm sixty-seven years old but regardless of my age I feel young and strong today, since taking Trutona," Joseph Stephens, a Louisville carpenter who lives at 3411 West Kentucky street, said recently.

"I had a bad cough," Mr. Stephens said in describing his case. "During the severe winter of 1917-1918 I moved from the country into town, and contracted a bad cold at that time. I didn't dare to exert myself as I would invariably suffer a severe, coughing spell if I did. I think I used every cough syrup I could find and I tried several other means but I didn't get relief from the cough until I began using Trutona."

"My friends told me I looked wretched and I certainly felt that way before I began taking Trutona. I came home from the south, where I had been working, presumably to die, but now I feel like a different man. The severe cough has practically disappeared now. As I said, I'm feeling young and strong at the age of sixty-seven."

Here is another of thousands of cases where Trutona has brought long needed relief after other medicines had failed. The perfect tonic is almost unfailing in its successful treatment of stomach, liver and bowel troubles, nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite and the like. As a reconstructive tonic, system purifier and body invigorant, Trutona is equally as efficient.

Trutona is now being introduced and explained in Columbia at Paul Drug Co.

Mr. Fred Myers will make some valuable improvements to the Bradshaw property he recently purchased. All the back rooms will be removed and new ones will take their places. Other improvements will be made, requiring several weeks to do the work.

North Carolina.

Shelby, N. C.

Editor Adair County News:—

People charge the natives of Kentucky with an abnormal state pride. Some go far enough to say, "once a Kentuckian always a Kentuckian", and to some extent this applied to your humble servant. But human nature is not hemmed in by state lines nor the divisions of empires. In all commonwealths is found the hero and the coward, the selfish wretch and the philanthropist; the venal and the noble. Kentucky never appreciated Abraham Lincoln until he was developed by Illinois, and "Uncle Joe Cannon" would never have risen to dignity of justice of the peace in this State; albeit a native of Guilford county. He was of Quaker extraction, and, therefore, didn't own niggers. In all the slave owning section this was the badge of gentility, no matter how crude, ignorant, coarse and vulgar. But it was so pronounced in Kentucky as in the states farther South; albeit an incubus wherever the system prevailed. But Kentucky has ever been the home of hospitality the nursery of the muse and the orator; and there is a rugged, fearless independence characteristic of the sons of this commonwealth. Permit me, with due apologies, to refer to a personal experience in Missouri. I had been called upon to discuss an educational topic and was sounding the loud timbrel. One of the auditors asked his desk mate where I was from. "From North Carolina", was the reply. "I don't care where he is from", was the paradoxical rejoinder, "that fellow is a Kentuckian. He has that reckless, don't-care-a-d--- style that nobody uses but those Kentuckians; and when you call him to books you'll find I am right. So, at first intermission one of them came to me and inquired if North Carolina were my birthplace. Of course he was disillusioned; while the other said:—"I told you so. I have heard speakers from many sections and you can't lose me on a Kenuckian."

Such independence is regarded as unsafe and heretical in this county. All wisdom resides in minds of lawyers preachers and merchants. Shelby, the county seat, is running over with statesmen who don't know Joan of Arc from Jezebel, nor Andrew Jackson from Benedict Arnold. These try to wind up all the "rubes" in political season; but "No. 8", the region where I live, is a miniature Adair County Kentucky. Hence, in State conventions, the politicians blaspheme "That d--- No. 8 gang."

Leaving things of political nature, permit me to pay a tardy tribute to the late lamented Tom Taylor; one of my friends, comrades and school mates. The word friend is used advisedly; for no man has many of the genuine article. I claim a few here and about that many in Kentucky; but were it to be noted that I have $1,000,000, I would be buzzed around as an orator, statesman poet, patriot and philosopher, $100,000,000 would enroll me among the immortals, no matter how richly I merited a life sentence in the penitentiary, or the electric chair.

Tom Taylor, while he had a heart of gold, never amassed a princely fortune. Some men are to generous, others to honest to realize great worldly possessions. The really useful citizens, are the farmers, artisans, teachers, preachers, lawyers, when they are honest, and editors. I don't mean puppet of some subsidized metropolitan journal; but some fearless editor whose soul is his own; and who never trembles nor temporizes at mandates from greed and corrupt capital. All capital is not corrupt, and all poverty is not pure and patriotic. We need the merchant and manufacturer; if they can be muzzled and kept from profligating. Some men are industrious, bright, honest and upright; and yet money never stays with them. Others are stupid, lazy, infernal rascals, would tell a lie on 60 days rather than the truth for cash; and yet roll in princely wealth. Know people who own stately mansions, ride in buzz-wagons, and who have magnificent deposits who are not worthy to unite the whang-leather in shoes of those who walk. I know mountain maids, in North Carolina, who have faces of the Mother Mary, voices of Jenny Lind, forms of the Greek goddess; and the chastity of Diana, who are spurned to pay adulation to some thick-lipped, low-browed, purse-proud half idiot with a drug store complexion; because he has inherited broad acres and a plethoric bank account. Doubtless these, when rich man died as portrayed in parable of Dives and Lazarus, some snuffling, time serving parson glorified the wretch who awoke in Gehenna, while all said about the beggar was, "well, poor old Laz, he got off at last, didn't he?" Tom Taylor was as cheerful, industrious and sincere a friend as I ever lost, and may he live again on shores eternal.

THE NORTHERN STATES HAVE ADOPTED THE 56" AUTO TRACK WAGON

Neither too Wide nor too Narrow but Standard 56-Inch Auto-track

WEBER

Bought by Farmers Because of Its Known Qualities

REGARDLESS of all other considerations—the 60-inch wagon does not fit the road. Any advantages it might possess are offset by the fact that it is a stranger on its own roads. It rides the ridges, which causes broken axles, wheels and other parts, and the tongue whips about which is hard on the team.

The justly famous Weber wagon is built only in 56" auto-track because this is the standard approved tread of automobiles—and the automobile makes the ruts in mud or soft roads. If the farm wagon is not made to follow the same path it is out of date for road service. Automobiles are increasing among farmers because they are a time-saving necessity, and every farmer who hasn't an automobile intends to procure one at the earliest opportunity.

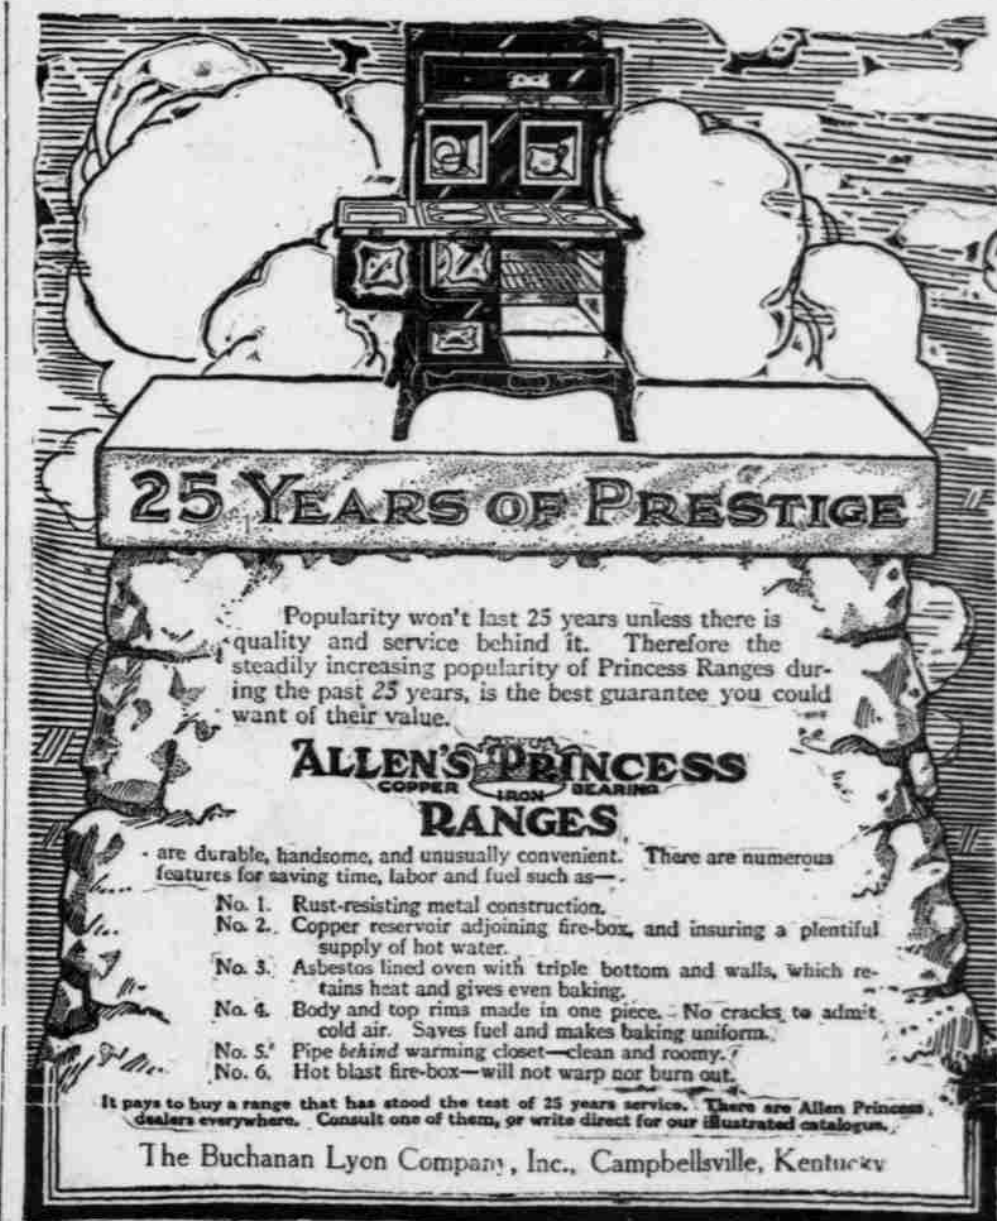

The Weber 56" auto-track wagon will do everything that the old 60" wagon would do. It will haul cotton bales as easily as the wide track wagon and the team can draw the load without having to pull every inch of the way. It lends itself just as readily to all kinds of farm work and in addition it fits the prevailing road tracks.

Besides the auto-track feature the new Weber has the patented Fifth Wheel and the "Safety First" Swivel Reach Coupling—two advantages that are worth $20 apiece to the user during the life of the wagon.

By all means see our Weber wagons before you buy. We can offer you something that will save you money and give you service.

ENGLISH IS COMMON TONGUE.

Chinese Girls Learn It to Talk to One Another.

Chinese women students in the Tung Pu College, Peking, China, are obliged to learn English in order to talk with one another because of the different dialects used by the student body.

Girls from the extreme western provinces of China, who attend the school, must remain in Peking during all of the eight years required for their high school and college training, because to return each summer would require six weeks for the trip one way and would cost more than a trip to America and return.

Girls from each of the western provinces speak a different language and they cannot understand one another any more than they can the girls from northern, southern, eastern or central provinces. Hence, they have adopted English as a common tongue.

NEW SCHOOL FOR CHINA.

V. W. C. A. Secures New Site for Girls' Physical Training School.

A new home has been found for the Physical Training School which the Young Women's Christian Association has opened for native girls in Shanghai, China.

The school, while in the country, is not far distant from the National Headquarters of the V. W. C. A. in Shanghai nor far from the local V. W. C. A. The grounds cover eighteen acres, which means approximately six acres, and are divided by a private road. A foreign residence already on the grounds will be used by the American teachers, while native buildings on the other side will furnish living quarters and classrooms for the 35 students.

The grounds boast a garden, tennis courts and an athletic field.
